

EmailEventHandler

Automated Notification Tool for Relativity

Overview

TSD Email Event Handler is an application within Relativity and RelativityOne, which provides the ability to send automated and scheduled email notifications so that selected recipients can be informed about edits made to a Relativity object. It allows you to set up custom email templates that can be attached to different Relativity Layouts, Views and Document Saved Searches.

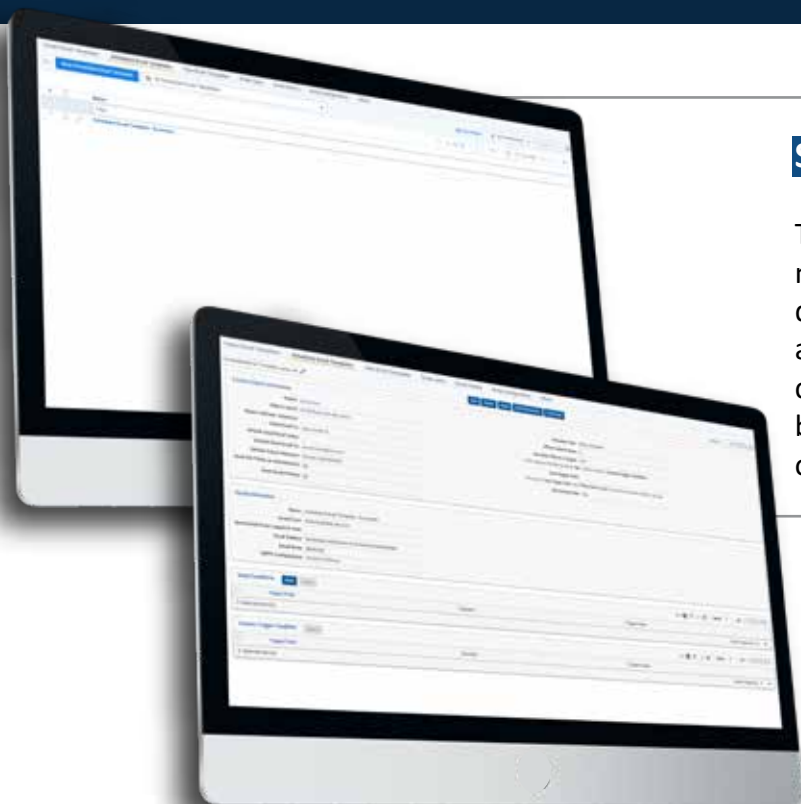

Instant Email Templates

The Email Event Handler application empowers you with the ability to set up various email templates and attach them to any Relativity layout. The templates are customizable, which means that you can choose a different value for the recipients and their behavior and also apply different Send Conditions.

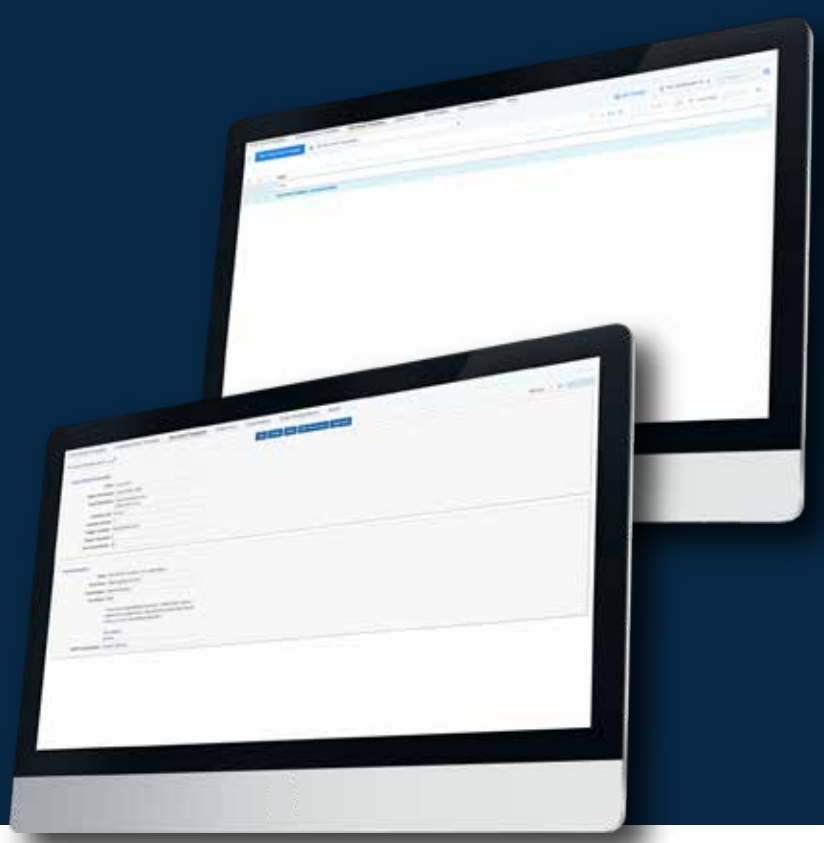

Scheduled Email Templates

The app's scheduling feature allows you to add multiple Send Conditions and set an offset value in days. Email notifications are sent to specific recipients according to the selected trigger field once the conditions have been met and the pre-set days have been reached. You can select a number of triggering options by using different field types.

View Email Templates

View Email Templates provide the ability of sending email notifications, based on a pre-set schedule interval, once a certain number of records has been added or removed to/from a Relativity View/Saved Search.

Additional Features

- Supported on Relativity 10.3+ and RelativityOne.
- Instance Settings and Secret Store configurations supported
 - Email history for each template
 - Ability to add file field values as attachments
 - Ability to add non-Relativity users as recipients
 - Append or override default recipients
- 21 placeholders supported by the different template types
